NAMES TO NOTE

ACTIVE ETHICS IN THE MARITIMES

LEGACY TEAM WINS DISTRICT FINAL

Congratulations are in order to RON and ELIZABETH LEGACY, Bras D'Or, NS, MARIE FLOYD, Sydney, NS and MARK SPEAR, Port Hawkesbury, NS who won the District 1 Finals of the NON LM Teams in Ottawa on Saturday, May 16. The team now goes to the Summer Nationals in Toronto to compete against the other 24 District Finalists compliments of the ACBL. Our best wishes accompany them.

HARTOP MAKES 1991 BARRY CRANE TOP 500

MIKE HARTOP, President of Acadian Unit 230, had a terrific year in 1991 accumulating no less than 322 master points.

His success landed him on the Barry Crane Top 500 which includes the top master point winners in North America. Mike ranked an impressive 448th on the list just ahead of Italian superstar Benito Garozzo. Congratulations, Mike!

WHO CALLED ?

NOTRUMP BIDS - OPENING BIDS AND OVERCALLS - Part 1

There appears to be some confusion over what regulations apply to no trump bids. What is permitted and what is not?

1. The bid of a natural notrump MUST promise a balanced hand. No agreement, either explicit or implicit, that a bid may be made with an unbalanced hand is legal; also illegal is any set of agreements which force certain hands to be opened 1 NT with unbalanced distribution, i.e. A forcing club system with 5-card majors and diamond openings promising 3+ may force 1NT on 4-4-1-4 or 3-4-1-5 hands. This is not permitted.

2. A range of not more than 5 HCP, or two non-consecutive ranges of 3 HCP, or less, is permitted as a natural call.

Use of a wider range, or a lower limit of less than 10 HCP, is defined as conventional and NO CONVENTIONS (including Stayman) are permitted in responses or rebids. These limits apply to natural NT overcalls as well as openings.

3. Point count ranges for natural NT bids above the one level are not defined, but the restrictions of (1) above apply.

There is not now, nor has there ever been, any regulation which prohibits a player from opening (or over-calling) a natural 1 NT with a singleton if sound bridge judgement dictates doing so.

This is part of an article which appeared in DIRECTIONS- A Forum for ACBL Directors, Volume 1, No. 1, January 1992. Part 2 will be printed in our next issue. This article was written by the legendary John "Spider" Harris, the tall, wiry Texan National Director who created the WEB or SPIDER movements often used at our sectionals.

CLERGY CLAIM THE GOLD IN ISLAND ROYAL VIKING

There were two Royal Viking Pairs games held in Prince Edward Island this year. The winners in Charlottetown were Father Roche and Mary Kelly and Pat and Gene MacDonald. The winners in Elmsdale were Father Eddie Cormier playing with Reg Pendergast and Father Claude Shea partnered with Father Howard Shea. So four of the eight gold point winners were priests and all needed the elusive gold. It looks like it certainly pays to have a friend in high places.

CALCUTTA CALAMITY

Ron Mak

The 1992 Maritimes CALCUTTA very fortunately witnessed a rare quadruple Royal Monarchcide (RM). Judge for yourselves if the perpetrator was indeed guilty of First Degree murder, 4 counts.

Lead : S8 (None or two higher)

Act 1 : His Royal Highness of Clubs.

The lead had to be made away from one of RM's 4 Kings, and following the old principle of leading from longest and strongest he led a normal Spade. Declarer ducked in dummy and won in hand with his Jack, to lead a small Club. Our RM ducked smoothly, to only see declarer finesse successfully with CQ, South following low. Now, declarer called for the CA, Ten from South, small.... With the First Lady gone, and partner showing an odd count which in a way shows JTx, and being one who vowed never to be endplayed RM committed his first Monarchcide by playing the King of Clubs under dummy's Ace....

Act 2 : His Royal Highness of Diamonds.

To RM's horror, partner discarded his DQ on the next Club played from dummy, won by declarer's impossible Jack, while RM had to follow with an indignified low club. Next, declarer led a low Heart, and again our RM ducked smoothly, yet to see another successful finesse taken. Now, declarer proceeded to cash his two good clubs in dummy. South and West each let a coupla small diamonds go, and RM first pitched a low spade, then remembering his partner's DQ discard, which guaranteed possession of the Jack and possibly the Ten as well, thus flicked his Diamond King under the last club....a frivolous second degree manslaughter.

Act 3 : His Royal Highness of Hearts.

With nothing else better to do, declarer decided to fulfill his contract by cashing his two red Aces. First came the Ace of Diamonds, low, low, low. Then came the Ace of Hearts, low, low,lightning struck twice, King from RM, even though this time it was per force, still he was tagged for his third Monarchcide.

Last we heard, the law firm of Goldpress was retained to defend this as an accidental death.

Act 4, the Grande Finale : His Royal Highness of Spades.

With nine tricks in, declarer spent his last picture from dummy, namely, the Queen of Spades, and rode her hoping for his third successful finesse, even though South already had followed with a low heart. By now, RM had been so ridiculed by partner and both opponents at the table that he spitefully, again denying his opponent an endplay for two more spade tricks, banished his King of Spades into eternal oblivion by refusing to win the Queen and thus let South take their only three tricks with Diamond and Heart winners, while RM did not at all contribute a single trick from ANY one of his FOUR Kings. So, 3NT making only four meant an average result to both sides.

Epilog :

Sequestered away in the penthouse of the HBW Grand Hotel for the last eon are several tired and confused committee members who are still trying to return a verdict on RM's trial of mass Royal Monarchcide.

STRATEGY AT IMPS - part 1

by Bill Campbell

A nice steady game won't win many pair games, but it is the most effective style at IMPS. In a typical match, both sides toss away bushels of IMPS, so whichever side plays less badly emerges victorious.

Bridge is a game of mistakes. A match in which both sides play well is a rare bird indeed and usually the losing side can be said to have beaten itself.

The average team usually gives away about 3 IMPS per board. In other words, you can expect to receive gifts worth 84 IMPS in a 28 board match. An expert team of highest rank can reduce this figure to about 40 IMPS (1.5 IMPS per board) but nobody even approaches perfection. Even top experts rarely have an errorless session.

This realization helps to put individual results in proper perspective. A disastrous loss of 14 IMPS, for example, is substantial but far from conclusive when compared with the total number of IMPS exchanged in every match.

Maybe you feel that your knowledge of technique is inadequate, placing you at a great disadvantage in an encounter with "name" players. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The technique of the average experienced player is good enough to win. In this respect bridge is an unfair game. However, technique counts for much less than is imagined. A master of the intricacies of play has few opportunities to display his skill. His superiority in this department accounts for few IMPS and is a negligible reward for the hours and years spent in acquiring exemplary technique.

The average player loses because he makes too many mistakes. The remedy is not more knowledge but greater concentration and better self-discipline. Occasional brilliance does not make up for a plethora of mistakes. Devote your attention to the everyday humdrum problems because accuracy on these hands spells the difference between victory and defeat.

Always strive to improve your form. Tell yourself that you are training for the World Championship. It takes courage and self-control to approach a match in this fashion but the alternative condemns you to mediocrity.

At first such a policy may not produce the desired results but be patient. Your efforts will be repaid in the long run. A sound conservative style will win most matches against teams of your peers and surprisingly often will bring off an upset against "superior" opposition.

It is a common misconception that sound play is only for the top expert whose performance is free of blemish and that the average player, whose performance is far from perfect, must seek another path to victory. This is all wrong. You don't need to "shoot". Active, busy players make too many mistakes and their energy doesn't show a profit on balance. The best players try to play sound, down-the-middle bridge with as few mistakes as they can manage. They win because their opponents take too many chances, gamble unnecessarily and end up beating themselves. (to be continued in our next issue).
